FINAL NOTICE

We regret to inform you that a final judgment has been issued against you. All rights and privileges that were previously granted to you by The Bank of ME are considered permanently terminated, and your relationship with ME is 100% dissolved.

My records indicate that you were notified in writing on _____ (add date of the 30 day notice here), and you were given sufficient time, and the opportunity to become current on your account, and remedy the situation.

However, or instead you have ignored the suggested course of actions, and you remain delinquent in providing a space for love, respect and growth to be nourished, and to flourish. Therefore, the bank of ME has permanently terminated its relationship with you.

With this top of mind, I want you to know that I am moving on to a life of self-love, self-empowerment, and self-value, which will ultimately lead me to the place of peace and happiness I deserve.

As part of the process, I must forgive and remain in the spirit of freedom. So as a footnote to The Bank of ME's dissolution, I still wish you nothing but the best.

However, please do not make any attempts to contact The Bank of ME from the date of this FINAL NOTICE.

All privileges have been revoked, and any calls, text, or other forms of communications will be ignored.

Note: I strongly recommend you review your life values, morals and the ethics of your behavior. For more information, help and support, please visit toocooltolove.com. Once there, carefully consider the option to purchase your copy of the Tool Cool To LOVE study guide (book) @amazon.com. It will likely provide you with comprehensive information, and the tools / resources necessary to build a meaningful relationship with yourself, any / or any other person you decide to have involved in your life. The Too Cool To LOVE process is highly recommended by The Bank of ME.

Best,
